KBS Constructors, Inc. Celebrates Employees' Accolades

Topeka, KS (June 1, 2009) – KBS Constructors, Inc., one of the Midwest's leading commercial construction companies, is proud to announce the recent honors awarded to project developer Bill Anthony, and company vice-president Neil Fisher.

The Eastern Chapter of the Kansas Society of Professional Engineers recently named Anthony their Engineer of the Year. The award was presented during the Engineer's Week Luncheon, held at the Marriot Hotel in downtown Kansas City with approximately 800 engineering professionals in attendance. Anthony was chosen based on both his engineering expertise, and his extensive civic involvement, holding offices in both local and state associations, including numerous Chambers of Commerce, and engineering organizations. By receiving the Eastern Chapter's Engineer of the Year Award, Anthony also becomes their nomination for the state level award to be presented at the state's annual meeting in June.

"It is always such an honor to have your hard work recognized by your peers," said Anthony. "Especially when they are a group as esteemed as this one."

At a separate event, KBS president Neil Fisher was named as an honorary member in the Pi Chapter of Sigma Lambda Chi of the Kansas State University

Architectural Engineering and Construction Science Society. The honor was presented at the Kansas State University Architectural Engineering and Construction Science and Management Awards Banquet held May 8th at the Clarion Inn in Manhattan, Kansas. Membership in the society is based on scholarship, leadership and keen interest in the field of construction. Fisher serves these principles through his dedicated work on behalf of education in construction at the secondary, post-secondary and craft training levels.

“I am thankful, proud, and humbled to receive such an honor,” Fisher said. “KSU is an incredible asset to our industry, and continues to produce the most talented construction and engineering candidates you’ll find anywhere.”

KBS Constructors, Inc. has nearly 20 years of experience in commercial construction, and specializes in Critical Environment Construction™.
